ITEM 5.02 Departure of Directors or Certain Officers; Election of Directors; Appointment of Certain Officers; Compensatory Arrangements of Certain Officers.

On February 20, 2008, the Board of Directors of Eastman Kodak Company (the "Company"), upon the recommendation of its Corporate Responsibility and Governance Committee, elected Dennis F. Strigl to the Company's Board of Directors. The Board of Directors determined that Mr. Strigl is independent under the New York Stock Exchange Listing Standards and the standards set forth under the Board's Corporate Governance Guidelines.

With the addition of this new independent director, the size of the Board of Directors increased to twelve directors. Mr. Strigl will stand for reelection by a vote of the Company's shareholders at the Company's 2008 annual meeting of shareholders. Mr. Strigl will serve on the Audit Committee and the Finance Committee. There was no arrangement or understanding between Mr. Strigl and any other persons pursuant to which Mr. Strigl was elected as a director of the Company.

Mr. Strigl, 61, serves as President and Chief Operating Officer of Verizon Communications. There are no related person transactions between the Company and Mr. Strigl. The Company does business with Verizon Communications. It has paid Verizon Communications and related companies approximately $1 million between 2005 and 2007 for product and services and total sales by the Company to Verizon Communications and related companies during the same period were approximately $1.5 million.

As a non-employee director, Mr. Strigl will participate in the Company's Director Compensation Program.

A copy of the Company's press release dated February 22, 2008 announcing the election of Mr. Strigl to the Board of Directors, is attached as Exhibit (99.1) to this Form 8-K and is incorporated by reference.

Kodak Board Elects New Member to Board of Directors

Verizon's Dennis Strigl Brings Wealth of Experience From Wireless Communications Industry

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Feb. 22 - Eastman Kodak Company (NYSE:EK) announced today that Dennis F. Strigl, President and Chief Operating Officer of Verizon Communications, was named to the company's board of directors, effective February 21, 2008.

Mr. Strigl, 61, became President and COO of Verizon in January 2007. In 2000, he was responsible for bringing together the domestic wireless operations of Bell Atlantic, Vodafone AirTouch and GTE to form Verizon Wireless, for which he served as President and CEO until being named to his current position with the company.

"I am pleased to welcome Denny Strigl to our board," said Antonio M. Perez, Kodak's Chairman and Chief Executive Officer. "Denny is widely recognized as one of the most prominent architects of the wireless communications industry. He launched the first cellular communications network in the U.S. while leading Ameritech's Mobile Communications business, and during his leadership at Verizon Wireless, increased the company's revenue by nearly 121 percent. Denny will bring a depth of experience to the board in an industry that is increasingly relevant to Kodak."

Mr. Strigl received his bachelor's degree in business administration from Canisius College, and his MBA from Fairleigh Dickinson University. He began his career with New York Telephone and held positions at AT&T and Wisconsin Telephone before becoming Vice President of American Bell, Inc. His career took him to senior leadership positions at Ameritech Mobile Communications, Bell Atlantic, and Bell Atlantic Global Wireless, where he was named president and CEO in 1991.

Mr. Strigl is past chairman of the Board of Directors of the Cellular Telecommunications and Internet Association, and serves on the boards of directors of Verizon Wireless, Anadigics Inc., PNC Financial Services Group and PNC Bank. He also serves as chairman of the Board of Trustees of Canisius College.

Mr. Strigl's election brings the Kodak board to 12 members, 11 of whom are independent directors, with Antonio Perez serving as the only non-independent director.
